

To use the game of soccer as a conduit for positive change by providing children who otherwise would not have access to organized soccer, a toolkit to overcome obstacles to growth, academics, inclusion and personal success on and off the field.

"Soccer is the world's greatest and largest game. But in the U.S., success is often determined by the wealth of the player's parents."

- USA Sports blog - Les Carpenter

In Charleston, SC the income gap forces many children not to have access to extracurricular athletic experiences. Between the cost of equipment, travel expense and the inability to physically get to scheduled practices and games, many kids are left behind. Charleston Kix goal is to not only bridge this divide, but to ensure through mentoring and tutoring, that the whole child is developed.

I am a licensed USSF Coach as well as a teacher in CCSD school district. I am also the Assistant Soccer Coach at Academic Magnet High School (AMHS). Through my professional career as a teacher on and off the field, I know firsthand the power of mixing athletics with life skills and goals.

Charleston Kix goals are to field as many teams while also providing academic and emotional support to help our kids become a success on and off the field. Through mentoring, tutoring and training while removing financial impediments we collectively can help more deserving kids become successful in our community.

Please help donate as best that you can, as well as come see how we operate anytime. We and the kids would love to show off how we are doing.

Thank you for your consideration.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "CJ Macauley".

CJ Macauley
Executive Director of Charleston Kix (501c3)
Charleston, SC
CharlestonKix@gmail.com